ImagiPlay RainForest Puzzle

One of the puzzles that we have in our house that the kids have the most fun with is the ImagiPlay RainForest Puzzle. It is for ages 3 and up. However, my 4 year old and 1 year old both love it. Mommy loves it too. This puzzle is made from rubberwood which is an earth friendly hardwood. The part I love the most is that it is painted with lead free paint. It is clearly labeled that way, and I don't have to worry about Will (the one year old) sticking it in his mouth (love it, love it, love it!). It is 18 pieces, so they can easily play with it together and not get into any fight. We also were able to create many different scenes with the puzzle on my living room floor. I love the fact that we can do that and also still make it into a puzzle. It is very versatile and is great for your child's imagination. As you can see from the pictures below, I highly recommend this puzzle to any one with little ones. They really will play with it for hours and hours.
